Beyond Excel: Easy SPC charting

Do you keep SPC data in Microsoft Excel or Access? Then you already know SPC charts from Excel can be difficult to analyze statistically and are tedious to create. This course is designed for quality practitioners who are using Excel or other software for data storage and retrieval but need ways to get more information from their data.

This 90-minute session will teach you how to generate process performance charts and perform statistical analysis with CHARTrunner. CHARTrunner uses data that is collected, stored, and managed by Microsoft Excel and other applications such as:

- Microsoft Access
- Oracle
- SQL Server
- and many more . . .

Hands-on course with active participants

By employing the latest technology, our experienced trainers will engage you throughout the class to hold your interest and enhance learning.
